

THERE'S A BETTER WAY TO FINANCE YOUR BUSINESS

Invoice ↗ Contract ↗ Construction ↗ Projects ↗ Stock ↗ Export ↗ Import ↗ Loan ↗ Retail ↗ Wholesale ↗ Distribution ↗ Supplier

Your hands needn't be tied by unreliable sources of finance or crippling interest rates. Time to break free and move away from traditional finance providers.

Convertibill® is intelligent handsfree finance. On the one hand it pays your suppliers. On the other hand it buys your customer invoices. Just like banking everything's online. Unlike banking, you get the finance you need, quickly and easily.

Traditional finance providers require liens on your company and personal guarantees. We only require that you trade with us openly and honestly. This is because we purchase your customer invoices outright and we neither need nor demand ownership of all your customer invoices. You decide and select what you sell to finance your business needs.

We can also pay your suppliers on demand and, as your business grows, we won't restrict you with 'credit limits'.

When you use Convertibill® to pay your suppliers and buy your customer invoices, your overall cost of funds should be the lowest in the market today.

Convertibill® supports many diverse and unique businesses by providing finance on a revolving basis for invoice finance, contracts, construction, projects, stock, export, import and lending.

Why Convertibill®?

In today’s credit climate traditional finance providers can no longer be relied upon to provide all the financial support you need. What’s more, as the economy recovers and grows, a return to ‘normal’ lending looks unlikely.

Convertibill® is the modern working capital and trade finance solution from Credebt Exchange®. It removes any funding uncertainty by offering a new source of intelligent handsfree finance that facilitates dynamic business growth.

How does Convertibill® work?

Convertibill® supports most aspects of many diverse and unique businesses. It can be used to finance construction, projects, import, export, stock, contracts and working capital. It covers ‘both sides’ of a company’s trading by paying suppliers, as well as buying customer invoices.

Unlike other financial providers we do not demand ownership of all your invoices, or apply unnecessary, complex or restrictive contracts. Nor do we restrict you with ‘credit limits’. Instead we provide finance to keep pace with your growth.

Another welcome plus is that in many cases no personal guarantees or liens are required. The whole process is highly efficient because everything is online and operates on a same day/24 hour response.

Can Convertibill® save me money?

Most definitely. When you choose to use Convertibill® to pay your suppliers, as well as buying your customer invoices, you can make significant savings. This is because you can negotiate early payment discounts from your suppliers. These discounts help drive down your overall cost of funds to the lowest levels in the market today.

Who are we?

We’re businessmen through and through, with many years of hands on business experience. So we know a thing or two about the frustrations of raising working capital.

Created by Credebt Exchange®, Convertibill® intelligent handsfree finance provides a long overdue platform that streamlines and simplifies the process of accessing capital.

How have we made a difference?

We’ve helped many companies pay for stock and supplies to fulfil customer orders. Helped importers pay foreign suppliers on demand. Paid off banks and invoice discounters so that our customers could easily switch to Convertibill®. And generally replaced the cost and complexity of traditional finance providers with our user friendly commercial alternative: Convertibill® Intelligent Finance.
